Matched Giving

STEP 1

Know the facts.

Many companies will match your charitable donations, fund raising or the time you volunteer with a charity. Here's how it works: You make a donation to a charity and request a match from your employer, who then makes a donation to the same charity.

STEP 2

Find out what your company offers.

Find out if—and how—your employer will match your charitable gift. Many employers include information on their internal websites. Alternatively, contact your company's human resources department if you can't find information about your workplace giving options, or you need additional information. If employee matching isn't part of your benefits package, you can always suggest your company start a matching program or ask if they offer other charitable incentives, such as volunteer opportunities or workplace giving, which sets up your charitable giving through an automatic payroll deduction.

Follow your company's workplace giving guidelines.

Make sure your charitable donation falls within the rules of your employer's matching or giving program. Complete the application process, providing your employer with all of the required information. If you require information from the Club to assist with the application process the email lawfordfc@gmail.com

Lawford Football Club is very grateful to our friends and organisations who support our work through matched giving and other donations.
